Panel Members/Speakers

Pam Boteler is President of WomenCAN International, a global voice for inclusion of women's canoe in the Olympic Games. She made USA Canoe/Kayak history at the 2000 National Championships by becoming the first woman to compete in sprint canoe – against the men, winning gold and bronze medals. Since 2000, she has worked tirelessly, while working full-time, to gain Olympic inclusion by 2016 for women's canoe, and to ensure equal opportunities at every level for female canoeists around the world.

Chandelle Schulte is the Senior Program Administrator for the National Association for Girls and Women in Sport. Chandelle has extensive experience as a college softball coach with the University of Wisconsin-Madison and the College of Charleston and is currently the Program Director for Let's Move in Schools.

Dr. Donna Duffy is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Kinesiology and is also the Program Director for the Program for the Advancement of Girls and Women in Sport and Physical Activity at UNC Greensboro.

Sarah Hillyer is the founder and director of the University of Tennessee Center for Sport, Peace, and Society. She is also a clinical assistant professor and director of the non-profit organization Sport 4 Peace. Since 1993 Sarah has been using her love of sports to encourage cross-cultural understanding and women's empowerment through physical activity and education around the world.

Shawn Ladda is Professor and Acting Chair in the Department of Physical Education & Human Performance at Manhattan College located in the Bronx, New York. Shawn is a Past President of the National Association for Girls and Women in Sport (NAGWS). She earned her B.S. from Penn State, M.S. from Springfield College, and a M.Ed. and Ed.D. at Columbia University-Teacher's College. Shawn's research and professional interest include history of sport, the female athlete, quality physical education, and coaching.

Raija Mattila, M.A. (Pol.Sc.), currently serves as the co-chair of the International Working Group on Women and Sport (IWG) for the 2010-2014 quadrennial term, leading up to the 6th IWG World Conference on Women in Sport "Lead the Change, Be the Change" in 2014 in Helsinki, Finland.

Carole Oglesby has been in the professoriate for more than forty years; 27 of them at Temple University. She earned a PhD in Kinesiology at Purdue University in 1969 and a PhD in Counseling at Temple University in 1999. Carole was principle author/contributor for a UN-Division for the Advancement of Women monograph entitled Women, Gender Equality and Sport, translated in four languages and released March 2008.

Lynda Ransdell, Ph.D., is currently serving as the Dean of Education, Health and Human Development at Montana State University, and she is the outgoing president of NAGWS. Her research interests include increasing physical activity participation, and improving sport performance in girls and women.

Elizabeth Stanton is a journalist with more than 10 years of experience in the fields of print, documentary, and multimedia journalism. She is the founder and creator of The Through Her Eyes Project, a multimedia exhibition project that captures and showcases the stories of girls and women who play sports in the developing world in order to demonstrate that women and girls in every country gain much more than physical strength when they play sports.

IWG 6th IWG Conference on Women in Sport

June 12-15, 2014

Helsinki, Finland

June 12 – 15, 2014, the world unites in Helsinki, Finland to explore intersections of gender and sport through the lenses of theory, policy and practice. Women and men from around the globe will attend the 6th IWG World Conference on Women and Sport, and we are counting on you to be among them. This milestone event is your chance to lead the change, to be the change that you long to see realized in sport.

Your time is now.

- Submit a presentation or workshop proposal in connection to the conference subthemes (TBA)
- Lend your support as a corporate sponsor or organizational partner
- Host an exhibit stand
- Plan to hold your committee meeting to coincide with the conference; facilities available upon agreement.

Registration opens January 2014
